MDA DataQuick Partners with Digital Map Products for Mapping Real Estate Data
- Advanced geospatial technology allows mapping of nationwide real estate information -

SAN DIEGO, May 17, 2010 – MDA DataQuick®, a division of MDA Lending Solutions and the nation’s largest independent provider of property data to real estate and mortgage professionals, announced a multi-year agreement with Digital Map Products (DMP) to combine DMP’s geospatial mapping technology and DataQuick’s real estate data.

“Partnering with DMP will help our customers better visualize the rich real estate data we provide to them by combining data and mapping,” said John Walsh, president of MDA DataQuick. “With DataQuick’s caliber of quality data coupled with Digital Map Products’ advanced geospatial technology, we will be able to equip our customers to make better informed business decisions.”

MDA DataQuick PropertyFinder® 2G gives real estate professionals access to a nationwide database of detailed property and ownership information, which includes property profiles, property history, demographic information and nearby schools and businesses. DMP makes its mapping technology available through its development platform, SpatialStream™. SpatialStream offers access to comprehensive mapping technology, key data sets and precision geocoding services, so companies can spatially enable their data and applications.

Real estate professionals working with MDA DataQuick and DMP are now able to visualize data through a combination of neighborhood-level property history and information and geospatial technology coverage for metropolitan statistical areas across the United States.

“We see our partnership with MDA DataQuick as the ideal combination of advanced information solutions and innovative mapping technologies,” says DMP CEO, Jim Skurzynski. “With our spatial platform, MDA DataQuick can capitalize on spatial technology and advance their offerings without needing to be GIS experts. Both our companies contribute what we do best and the result is a more powerful and intuitive way to access and analyze data.”

“Our partnership empowers the real estate professional,” said Walsh. “Being able to absorb data visually aids comprehension and analysis and ultimately helps real estate professionals reduce risk. By integrating our data with DMP’s spatial technology we are providing the ultimate resource for anyone working in the volatile contemporary real estate market.”
